

ABSTRACT

An anonymous electronic funds transfer system and method and anonymous shipping system and method are provided. A shopping mall server in an anonymous electronic funds transfer system comprises a reception unit operable to receive information about a product selected at a client terminal, a
5 storage unit operable to store a monetary amount of a product provided on an online shopping website, and to store a purchase identifier that identifies a purchase of the product selected at the client terminal, a computing unit operable to calculate a payment sum for the product selected at the client terminal based on the monetary amount of the product stored in the storage unit,
10 and, a transmission unit operable to, in response to designation of a credit company, send instructions to connect to a website of the designated credit company to the client terminal, the instructions including the purchase identifier and the payment sum, wherein the purchase identifier comprises a product name formed by encrypting a name of the product selected at the client
15 terminal with a public key that is unique to the online shopping website.